Other	I'm a proactive person, always willing to learn new skills and open to further knowledge, be it theoretical or practical. Looking for new experiences as to continue along a personal growth path on both a professional and private level. I believe that my hardworking and caring personality make me able to cope with a number situations without panicking. Being part of a team is something I really look forward to both as a leader, role in which I am usually able to best understand and direct the capabilities of my peers, and as a follower, role in which I dedicate myself completely to the common goal in a way that best suits the group. I'm a passionate reader and I love outdoor activities; I am a boxing and rugby amateur. Currently enrolled at University of Genova, STRATEGOS Master of Science.
